Welcome to the 12th Biennial Conference of the European Union Studies Association in Boston! More than 500 researchers and practitioners from over 150 institutions across the world are participating in over 140 panels and roundtables, making this by far the largest EUSA Conference.

There are many special events of interest: on Thursday, a lunchtime panel on getting published, featuring editors of several prominent journals, and that evening a JCMS sponsored lecture by Gary Marks; on Friday, an Economics interest section lecture by the President of the Boston Federal Reserve; and on Saturday, a special EUSA lunch program on funding opportunities through the Jean Monnet Programme.

Jeremy Richardson will receive the EUSA Lifetime Award for his contribution to European studies. Do not miss the EUSA Prize Ceremony on Friday at 6:30pm, where we will acknowledge Jeremy Richardson and the winners of Best Book, Best Dissertation, and Best Paper Prizes. This is followed by the EUSA Reception (free to conference participants) at 7:15. Thursday night there will be a reception sponsored by JCMS, and to close the conference a reception on Saturday sponsored by the Consuls General of Europe.

The European Union Studies Association is grateful for a generous conference grant from the European Commission, and logistical assistance and financial sponsorship from our local hosts, Boston University. We especially recognize the efforts of former EUSA Chair Vivien Schmidt in helping to make the 2011 Conference a success.

The Network of European Union Centers of Excellence and the International Association for the Study of German Politics provided generous support and, along with Boston University, co-sponsor our EUSA Reception. We appreciate web assistance from the University of North Carolina. We also deeply appreciate the support of the University of Pittsburgh, EUSA’s home.

Special thanks to the Program Chairs, Erik Jones and Dan Kelemen, and the seven-person program committee. Enjoy the conference!

Adrienne Héritier

Since its launch in 1992, German Politics has established itself as the leading international peer-reviewed journal in its field. Its mission is to provide theoretically informed perspectives on the changing agendas of German Politics. It engages with themes that connect Germany comparatively with other states - the challenges of globalisation, changes in international relations, and the widening and deepening of the European Union. It also links work on Germany to wider debates and issues in comparative politics, public policy, political behaviour, and political theory.

Most recently, the journal’s status has been enhanced further by its acceptance into the Thomson Reuters’ (formerly ISI) Social Science Citation Index.

Further information on how to submit, including free access to the top downloaded articles from 2010, is available at:

Announcing a New Collaboration Between EUSA and the Journal of European Public Policy

EUSA is pleased to announce a new collaboration with JEPP. In conjunction with biennial EUSA conferences EUSA and JEPP will collaborate on a special biennial issue of JEPP which will include some of the best papers delivered at EUSA conferences.

Papers will be chosen using a “bottom up” procedure: Panel chairs will nominate exceptional papers and submit them to the EUSA Program Committee member responsible for that particular area of study; each of the Program Committee members will select 1-2 papers from these submissions and submit them to the selection committee; The selection committee, made up of EUSA Executive Committee members, the Editor-in-Chief of JEPP, and other invited colleagues, will choose the eight papers to be included in the issue.

We look forward to this excellent opportunity to collaborate with the editor of JEPP, and to highlight the high quality of scholarship consistently presented at the EUSA Biennial Conferences.
